

Our High Standards for Design & Manufacturing

The vast majority of our product design and manufacturing is managed in consultation with Sascal Displays – the specialist electronics company who amass over 20 years experience within the defence and security arena. Combining our detailed application knowledge with world-class technical capabilities allows H264 Ltd to deliver the highest standards to our customers.

Our products are manufactured in a fully certified ISO9001:2008 clean environment and product assembly meets the IPC A-610 specification. Indeed Sascal Displays' design capabilities include Land Class A compliance and an extensive range of MoD & DoD defence standards.

Our Applications Team have backgrounds in the fields of law enforcement, military and secret intelligence – influencing product design at its earliest stage, based on known application requirements. Our teams of expert engineers possess the experience and capabilities to produce serious, high-end products in the UK for worldwide availability.

Comprehensive support is offered alongside all of our products, including an all inclusive return-to-base warranty.

For further information, please contact our Head Office.